

In the Media: Mom's Favorite Stuff.com - September 9th, 2007

Wear Your Baby in Style

Posted: September 9, 2007 at 9:01 am | by Jodi
Filed under: Carriers

With my first child, I had a baby carrier that wasn't very comfortable, so once she got over a few months old, I stopped using it. However, once I was pregnant with my son, I realized that with two children, I absolutely needed a good carrier solution. I found myself wearing my son while my daughter sat in a shopping cart, while we just walked around the house, while we played in the yard, almost everywhere! Now, even though my son is now able to move on his own, I very often need a carrier for him, and I really needed a comfortable, easy to use product.

We recently received a Belle Baby Carrier, and I absolutely love it! The Belle Baby Carrier was created by two Utah dads who are very conscious of both safety and comfort. Made from the most comfortable fabrics ever, the Belle Baby Carrier is small and easy to transport, yet completely durable. The carrier we received is lined in a super-soft luxurious fabric that is definitely going to be comfortable against the baby's body.

Belle Baby Carriers are made for children 10-25 lbs, and the baby can face both in and out. I was thrilled to learn that this can be used with the child facing out, because my son loves to look out! Even though my son is over 20 lbs, carrying him in the Belle Baby Carrier is still incredibly comfortable, and putting him in it is so easy!