Think deciding where your baby will be born, who will deliver him and what you'll name him is hard? Wait till you're faced with choosing among the constantly increasing amount of baby gear vying for your attention everywhere! To help you sort it all out, this year, as always, our Buyer's Guide focuses on one thing above all: making sure that every product included has been tested by babies, toddlers and parents and proven to be safe, practical and effective (looking good helps, too). Now, however, we're also addressing two additional issues at the top of consumers' minds: the environment and the tough economic times we're living in. As a result, we're doing something new: adding "Green" and "Best Value" tags to products in certain categories so that you can make more informed choices. ✨ So, consider your budget, your lifestyle and your personal preferences, and start narrowing down your shopping list. Then get cracking on baby names.

A celeb fave, the Belle Baby Carrier, $90-$100, is designed to distribute most of the baby's weight to your hips rather than your back. With no barrier between you, your baby's able to hear your heartbeat and nurse discreetly, two of his favorite things. 8 to 30 pounds.
